Forever TIGER

The tiger is the largest member of the cat family. People admire the tiger for its enormous strength and beauty, but at the same time they fear it because it is known for its ferocity. The tiger is a very intelligent animal. It depends on its sharp eyes and keen ears in pursuit of attack. Because the tiger is extremely swift, it is practically invincible.

We are the Guymon Tigers. Our characteristics are so remarkably similar to those of real tigers. People admire us as they do real tigers; we are also invincible. Regardless of the different paths our lives lead us, the spirit of the tiger will remain with us FOREVER!

Jeff Hall, Jeff Smith, David Rivera, Billy Harris, Andre Ward, Steve Rhodes, Brian Costner, David Scott, and Steve Trotter pile in the pick-up created by the "Herd." Herd: the defensive and offensive line who lead the way to the goal line for the backs.

Showing true Tiger spirit through her Tiger apparel, sophomore Tera Moore fits in some last minute studying.

Dressed out in full gear, the Guymon High School Band follows their fearless leader, Mr. Scott, down the hill to a Friday night football game.

Football cheerleaders Kim Mendenhall, Starla Bugner, Michele Hart, Crystal Petty, Christy Brock, and Tricia Fuentes gather around their incredibly spectacular Tiger mascot, Melissa Clark.

Seniors Crystal Witten, Kathy Holland, and Stephanie Vandervort show their spirit during Homecoming Week as they decorate senior lockers.

THE SPIRIT OF THE TIGER

Spirit. It vibrates through Guymon High School like a hidden pulse. Spirit is the inner heartbeat of our pride, our enthusiasm, and our power. Our desire to excel in every aspect stems from spirit. The zeal of the seniors, the energy of the juniors, and the vigor of the sophomores combine to make GHS thrive with spirit. Spirit is the force that compels us to stand and clap our hands when we hear the fight song. Spirit causes each and everyone of us to be champions. Spirit is the reason we strive and the reason we achieve. The Spirit of the Tiger is a dynamic force, a force that will beat in our hearts and flow through our veins forever.

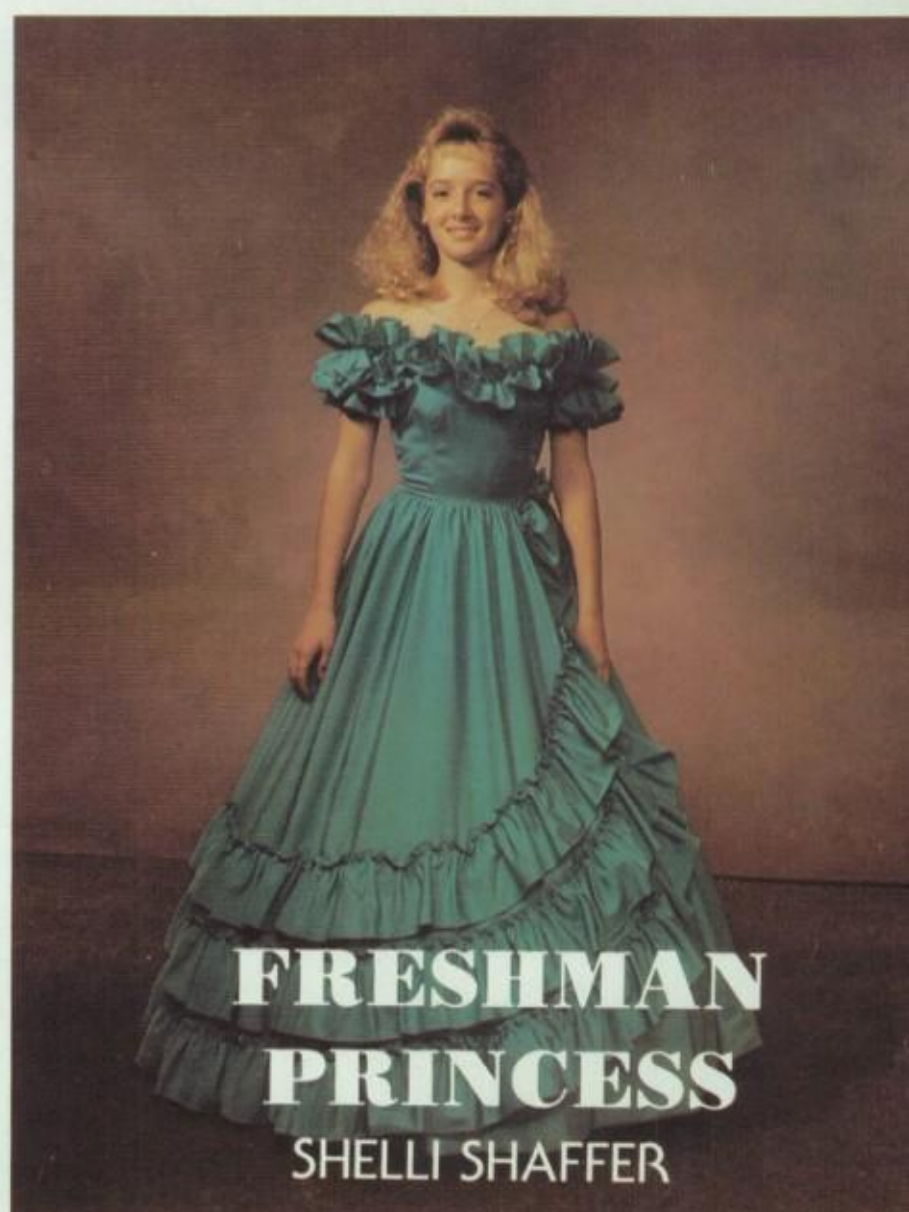

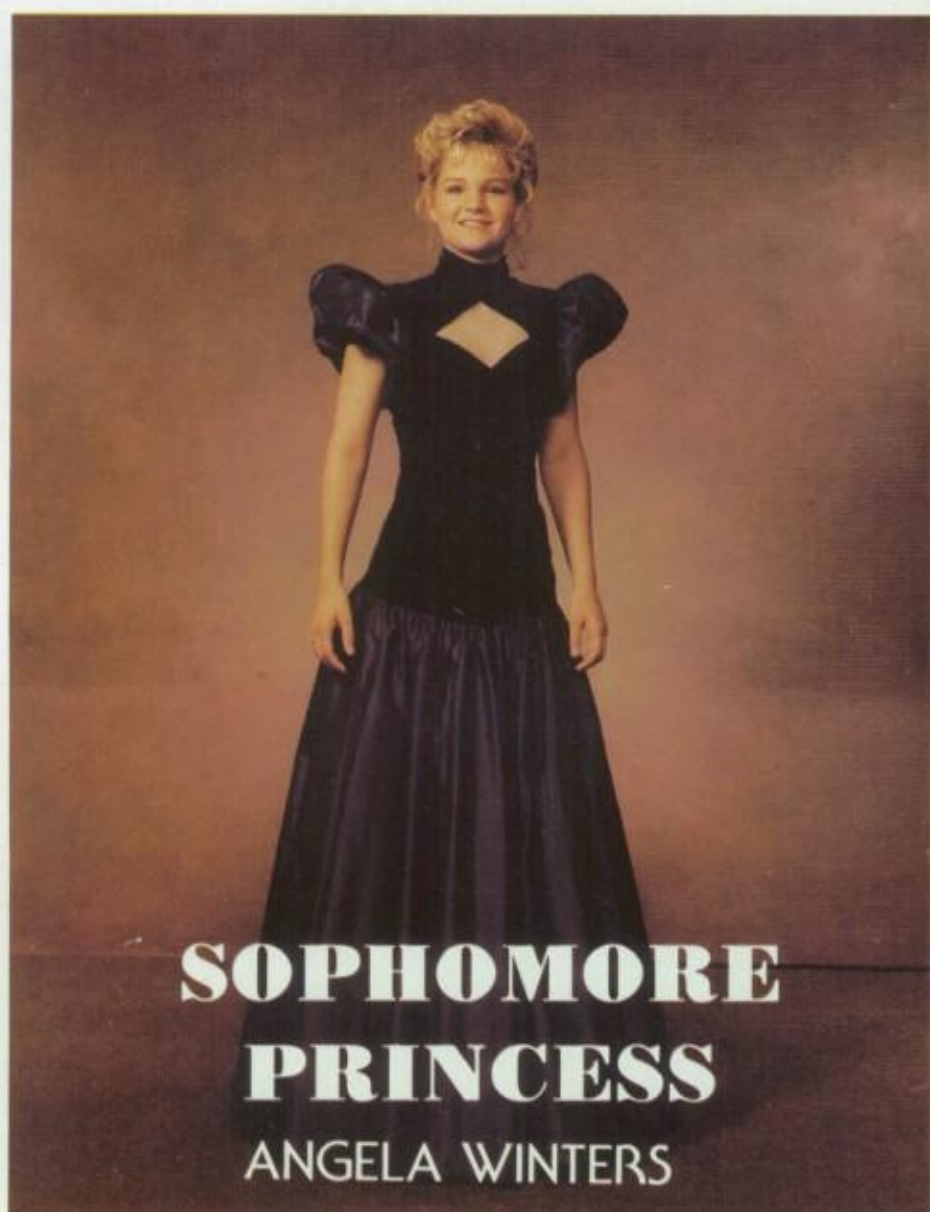

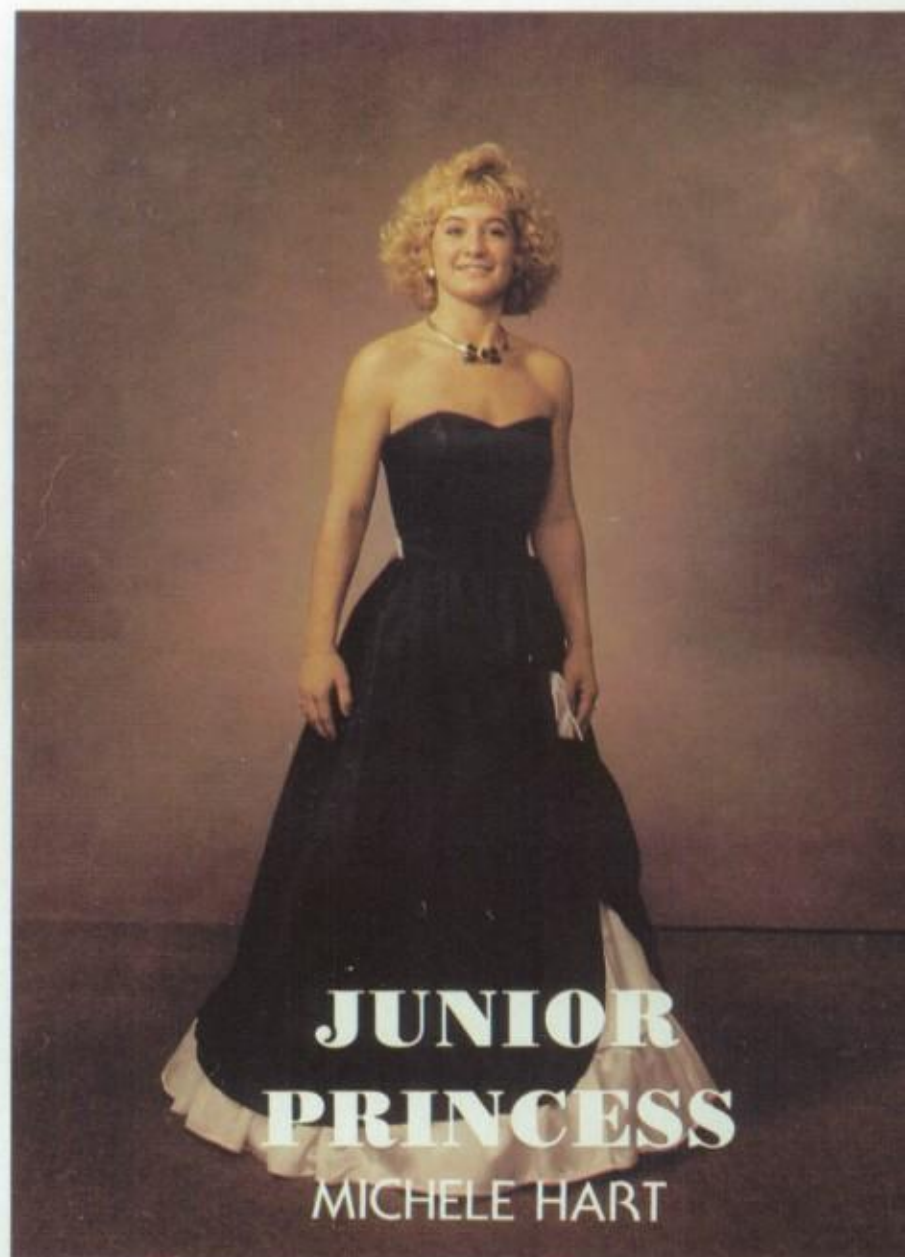

Voting for the Baby Face Contest, senior Jennifer Decker is surprised to see Secretary Moschak dressed as a clown for Hero Day. (left)

The many long hours spent at home and preparing decorations for homecoming have not dampened the spirits of juniors Michelle Foster, Channe Sears, and Tamra Barnes.

DOCTOR! DOCTOR! COME QUICK!

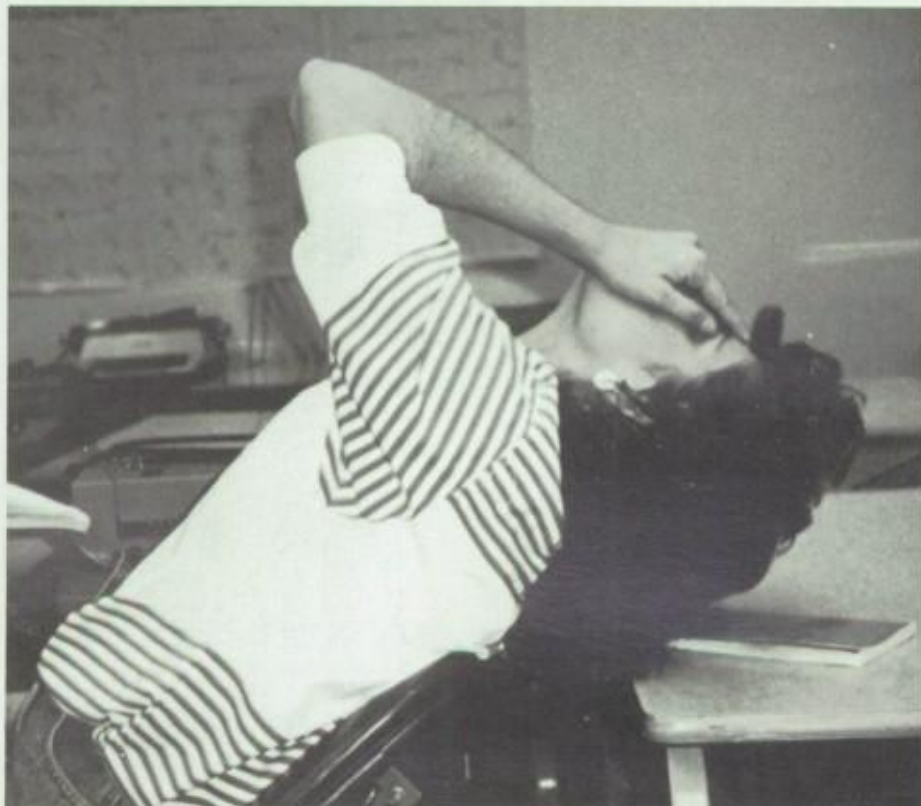

SENIORITIS. It hits most all seniors over the head like a baseball bat. Before they have a chance to know what came over them, they have an uncontrollable urge to get out of school. Senioritis is most commonly caused by a senior's desire for freedom. They are at the age that they think they can handle any curve on the path of life, but the authorities (in most cases, the parents) are not yet willing to let them go. All seniors are susceptible to senioritis. The effects of this disease do not last after graduation, and it is usually non-fatal. Some seniors try to cure themselves by dropping out of school; the doctors say this is not the best method. However, the doctors do suggest to stick it out and make the best of it — in the long run, you'll be glad.

Cheri Mallard passes out from the exhaustion of being a senior.

Tim Gibson comes to the rescue of Jennifer Decker when she comes down with the disease of senioritis.

Craig Garrison and Tim Parham take time to relieve their frustrations of being a senior.

Starla Bugner during nine weeks tests.

Cindy Carden suffers from the pressures and anxieties of senior life.

Lanna Wilson, Pam Terrazas, and Kim Mendenhall show us how they feel about stress.

Sign o' the Times

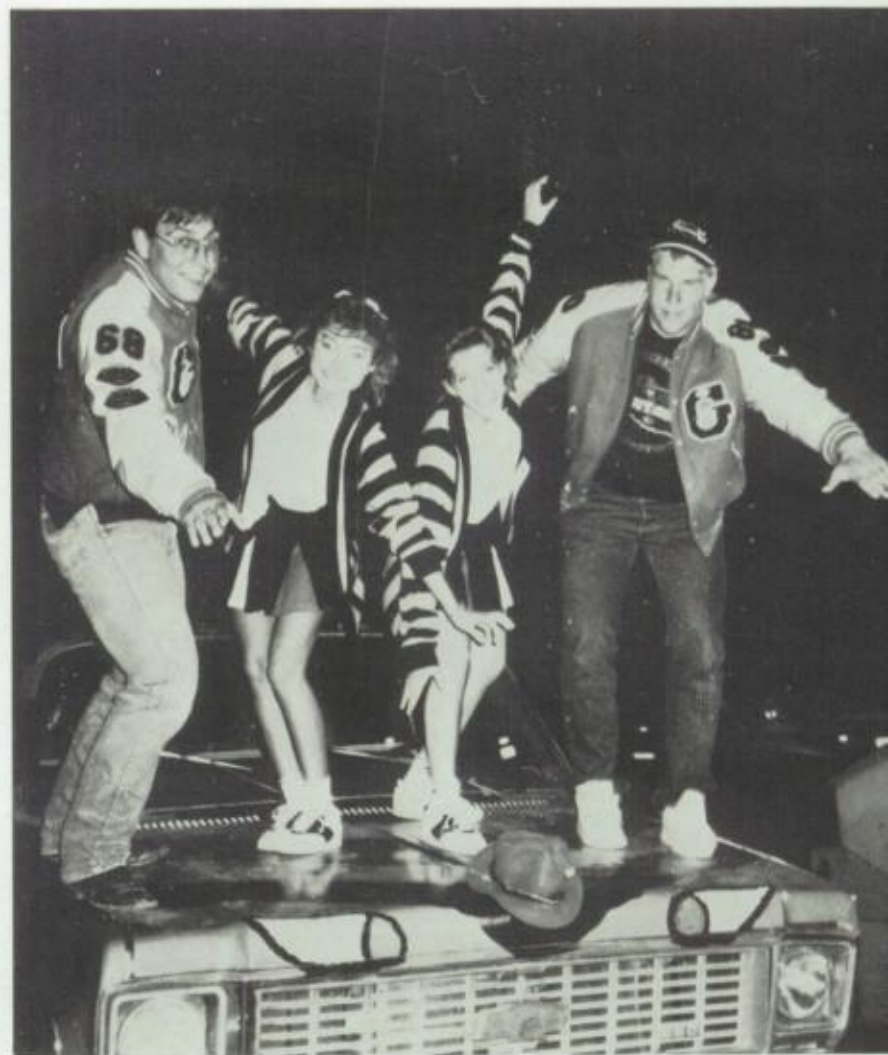

"Remember always that you have not only the right to be an individual; you have an obligation to be one. You cannot make any useful contribution to life until you do this."

— Eleanor Roosevelt

Everyone seems to live by these words during the race to see who can discover the newest trends in 1988. Times have changed and so have people. There was a time when everyone dressed the same, talked the same, wore their hair the same — just to be part of the crowd. Now the thing is to be different. More and more people want to be different. Our clothes are easy-going and care-free. Comfort is crucial. T-shirts play a big roll in our lives. Coke shirts are an item, but the war rages on as Pepsi apparel is also on the market. But wait, where is Pepsi's answer to Max Headroom? Jeans and jean jackets are still hot, but Mr. Levi and the Levi's

Company are running scared; Guess products and Pepe are high on the list of wanted clothes. Where do all of these fads come from? MTV plays an enormous part in the scheme of things. It lets us in on all the latest trends and of course all the up-to-the-minute music. As funny as it may seem, the new songs are actually old. There are many remakes, mostly from the 60's, that are topping the charts. And we could never forget the sound of the Bronx as "rappin'" has swept the nation.

These are just a few of the trends of 1988. We live them, and we love them, but most of all — we'll never forget them.

Leigh Tomlinson stands up for the "Choice of a New Generation" while Lisa Lee prefers to "Catch the Wave."

Joel Shaffer starts a new trend by trading sweaters with a cheerleader.

"I look at it this way — holey jeans are better than bell bottoms. That wrinkle and rear have to be perfectly placed. Sometimes I stay up all night just tearing. It has to be natural."

NOW WHAT DO WE DO?

When we stop and reminisce over the past twelve years, we realize that we've always been here for each other. Twelve years seems like forever, but the time has really flown. It's amazing how many memories we packed into that period of time. It seems as if we've been through it all together — the good and the bad. We've loved and hated each other; we've planned and schemed with one another. And now — now what do we do?

Now we're all going our separate ways. Some of us will keep in touch; some of us will never see each other again. It doesn't matter though. As long as we have memories, we have each other. James M. Barrie, a famous playwright and novelist, once said, "God gave us memory that we might have roses in December."

Dominic Ramirez thinks being a senior means getting away with anything as he tries to charm Mrs. Brune into helping him with his sewing.

Tim Parham and Jeff Smith believe since they are seniors they can just relax and have fun between classes. (Bottom left)

OUR JOURNEYS THROUGH LIFE

From the beginning and through the years,
We had our golden days.
In our past stood good and bad,
But Jesus Christ lead our ways.
Through those years, through and through,
We fought the battles together.
Knowing that day will soon come,
Our thoughts will be forever.
We fought them all, tall and brave;
We fought them to the end.
Our battles were always victories;
Because our faith, they could not bend.
Our Senior year has come to end;
The time has come to part.
We now face time on our own;
We will always be in each one's heart.

AWESOME AIDS

Believe it or not, hard work and dedication are essential to the existence of an office aid. Each hour a different office aid goes through the daily ritual of collecting absentee slips, running errands, answering the phone, greeting visitors, filing, typing, decorating bulletin boards, and during the holidays they decorate the entire office. These amazing people can do all of this in a time span of 55 minutes.

Why do these girls undertake such a laborious mission? Third hour aid, Crystal Witten commented, "It's a job of prestige. I like office work, and it's good experience for future careers."

Being an office aid, it's more than a job; it's an adventure.

AMERICAN FOR A YEAR

Hi! I'm the Rotary Exchange Student of 1987-88. I come from a very small country not larger than 120 miles from east to west and 200 miles from north to south at its broadest. Our native language is Dutch. Fourteen million people live in an area of 5,700 square miles that makes the Netherlands the most densely populated country of Europe — a country famous for its windmills, tulips, cheese, wooden shoes, and Rotterdam, the world's largest seaport. Our capital is Amsterdam, a very lively city with a lot of culture.

August 20, I finally arrived in the U.S. of A. after a lot of preparations I had to make. After I went through some selections, I got a letter that my name had been placed on a reserve list. After a few months, I got a letter stating that I could go to the U.S. First it scared me a little bit, but I knew this was going to be THE experience of my life, so I decided ... America here I come!

My first host family was the Webster family, who are wonderful people who took very good care of me. I had a lot of fun and it was hard to leave them. My second host family, the Moschaks, are also wonderful people with whom I really enjoy staying.

Life is a lot different here than at my home. I really like the American way of living. The school system is totally different. High school is so much easier here than in Holland, with six subjects here instead of fifteen and hardly any homework. Our schools at home are just for learning and studying; we don't have all of the activities such as football and basketball games, cheerleading and pep rallies that are so wonderful and make going to school a lot more fun.

I enjoy staying here so much that I think it's going to be hard to leave in June. It's a great experience to be a foreign exchange student. One can learn so much about another country's customs, ways of living, and can also meet so many new people. I want to thank everybody who made this year so wonderful for me and made me feel so much at home by letting me become a part of your society. I've had so much fun that I haven't even had the chance to be homesick.

— Claudia Coppen

CLASS RINGS.

One of the most exciting moments of a junior's life is receiving his or her class ring. Of course, parents would rather skip the part of paying for these rings considering the price now ranges from $99.95 to $260.00 or even higher. Students spend a lot of time studying the eighteen different colors of stones, six different styles of cuts, and over one hundred and fifty original types of side designs.

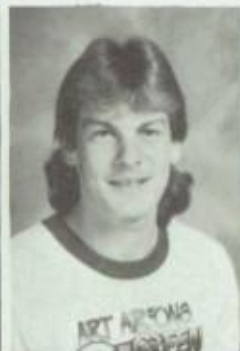

After making the final decision, students wait impatiently for eight weeks. Throughout the weeks of waiting, people hear in the hallways, "What kind did you get?" or "How much did yours cost?" and especially "When are the rings coming in?" Kids hope the eight weeks will zoom by fast, but parents pray the eight weeks will never end. As usual the parents seemed like they would win the battle as the rings were two weeks late, but the students finally got their long-awaited desire when the "arrival" came.

On Thursday, November 19, around 11:25, juniors heard Mr. White's voice blare over the intercom, "Juniors, I am sure you are happy to hear your class rings are in at Zellers." Automatically smiles appeared on juniors' faces, and they started figuring out ways to get their class rings. By Friday most students had received their fabulous ring. Again, voices in the hallway rang, "Let me see yours," and "That is so pretty." Juniors now trot around with their fantastic class rings on showing everyone in sight. Sooner or later the excitement will wear off, but students will treasure their class ring forever.

THE MIDDLE CHILD

The Senior Class of '88 can do no wrong in the eyes of their elders; the sophomores are protected because this is their first year in high school, but we, the juniors, get away with absolutely nothing. Because no one wants to upset the departing seniors, the blame, if something goes wrong, does not fall on them. Because people feel sorry for the sophomores, the blame doesn't fall on them. But the juniors, who are stuck in the middle, always seem to find the blame. Now this is not true in every case, but most of the time my theory appears to be correct.

Once in a while, a senior or sophomore may be able to coax us into a semi-wrong situation, but do they take any blame? No! It's their fault we did it, either following their leadership or attempting to help them — but one way or another — we get nailed.

So, whether you like us or not, you know as well as we do that we are taking the blame for you. Get ready sophomores because next year you'll be "The Middle Child" and you'll be taking the blame for us.

Stepping up to the occasion of being great juniors are Amy Kidwell, Kristen Wood, Kelly Blackmore, Tricia Fussel, and Kim Mitchell.

Stephanie Taylor, Darren Tipton, Kelly Blackmore, and Ashley Adams gather for a discussion before class.

Having the forever-famous after-lunch talk in the pit are Ricky Koch, Kelvin Frances, Clay Curtis, Jeremy Matzek, Brent White, and Brandon Barker.

Algebra may be a stumper, but Brandon Barker plans to handle it with Mrs. Fankhouser's help.

BROOKE AND DAD

Buzz . . . Your alarm goes off. Time to get ready for another wonderful day at school. You eat breakfast, get dressed, tell Mom and Dad good-bye, and then head out the door. But wait a minute — why tell Dad bye? You are going to see him before you know it in the halls at school. NO! NO! NO! Dad is going to work, and you are going to school. Unless of course, your Dad works at school. For Brooke White this is the case. All of her life Brooke has been introduced as "Mr.

White's daughter." But now that Brooke has finally reached high school, she has made a name for herself. Mr. White is now known as "Brooke's dad."

Is there any special treatment that goes along with being the principal's daughter? Mr. White comments, "I've already had one daughter go through high school, so this one is no different. There is no special treatment for Brooke; I would suspend her just like anyone else, maybe even quicker."

HIGH SCHOOL PHOBIA?

"NO WAY!" say Kendra Lesley, Brenda Drake, Tamra Stephens, Tellsa Webb, and Liz Board.

Sophomores modeling the newest passion in footwear.

"The Guys" pose a moment for a picture when attending pre-enrollment.

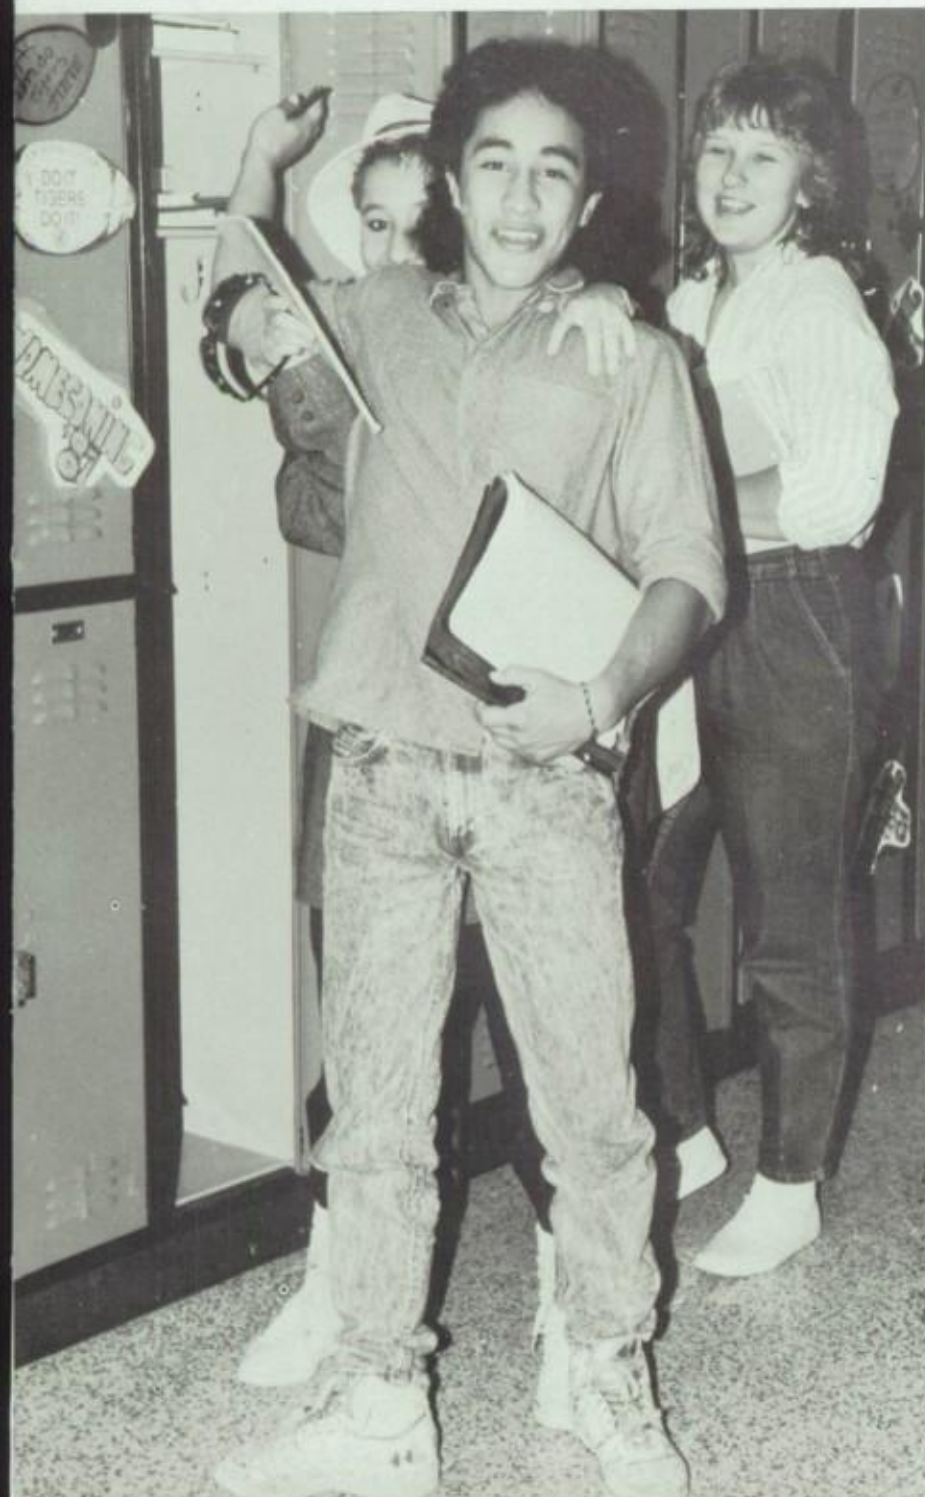

NO WAY!!

Scared of a few seniors — no way! We've finally made it to high school and nobody is getting in our way. For years we have been dreaming of walking the halls of the high school, living high school, experiencing high school. Now we've made it, and we won't be intimidated. True, we are the sophomores, at the bottom of the heap. But it's only a matter of time until we reach the top of the totem pole. Now we may have felt a bit apprehensive that first week but we're over that and now we're competing with the best of them. We have four sophomores on the varsity football team that led us to state and six sophomores on our spectacular varsity basketball teams as well as top contenders in junior varsity sports, choir, golf, speech, debate, FFA, and many other events. And even though we are seriously pursuing some goals in high school, we're also having a lot of fun. High school means more freedom and lots of new experiences. So while we're here, we are going to live them all. High school phobia — NO WAY!

Sophomore twirler Wynde Mathis is clearly not intimidated as she awaits her turn on the field.

Suffering from an anxiety attack, Tera Moore, Nicole Gotcher, and Wynde Mathis get hold of themselves.

Our sophomores are clearly a hit with the girls. Pictured is Mark Urias with Linda Padilla and Arlene Vavra.

Being a Sophomore is pretty cool

We rule the school night and day,
On Juniors and Seniors we do prey.

Bicycles — too elementary. The bus — get real. We're sophomores and we're stuck. Stuck at home the night of the big party. Stuck driving down Beaver instead of Main. Stuck spending your weekends at the grocery store. But all that will change when we reach that goal desired by all sophomores; one that is constantly pursued — becoming 16! It would mean release from so many everyday problems. No more asking people for rides. No more dragging Main with Mom in the family station wagon. It would mean freedom! So until that great day when we finally become 16, we'll suffer through our transportation perils. But when the day comes for us to get that little plastic card with that repulsive picture that somewhat resembles ourselves — STAY OFF THE SIDEWALKS!

Patently awaiting that great day, Telisa Webb tells her mother what time to pick her up.

One of the tasks of being a freshman is writing every day journal entries. Writing these entries may seem like a pain, but the topics that we write about may become goals for the future. Later on we may find out that dreams do come true.

Dear Journal — August 21, 1987

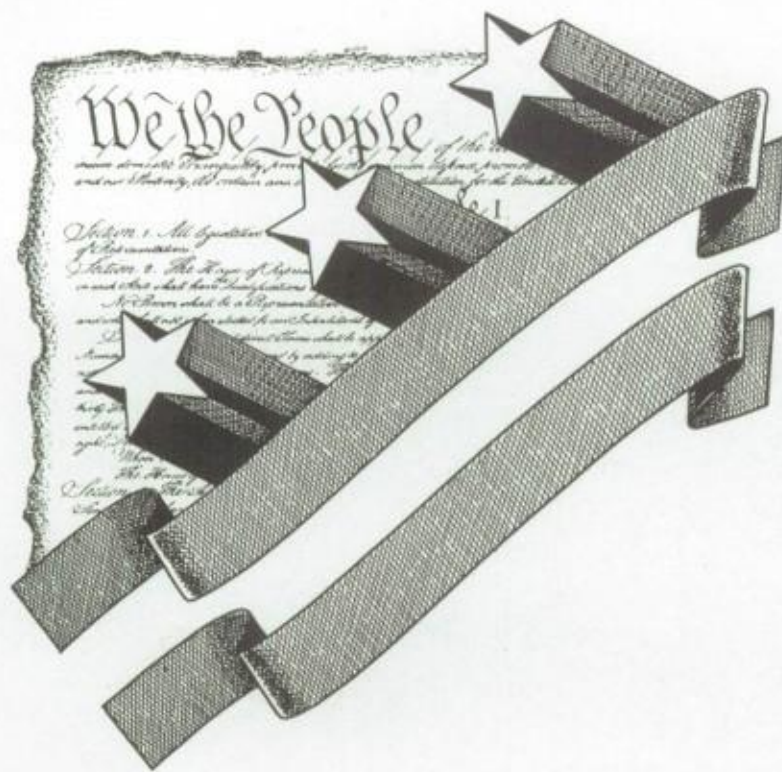

Freshman! I love that word! Freshman! To me, freshman isn't just another word that means ninth grader or something. To me, freshman means "head honcho," "top of the pile," "Big time material," etc. I love being looked up to by kids younger than myself; I really don't know why. I guess it makes me feel important. Next year it will probably be a different story because I'll be a little sophomore! Oh well, I think I'll live! I have many goals and dreams for this year and I hope to accomplish many of them such as: I hope that the girls' basketball team goes undefeated or fairly close. That would be great! I also hope to make straight A's, and hope to be elected to Student Council. I know my freshman year is going to be hard, but I'm going to try my hardest to make these dreams come true. FRESHMAN!

— Heather Noland

Dear Journal — November 9, 1984

We won all of our games this year, and it's hard to believe that it's over. We were undefeated two years in a row. We're all proud of what we accomplished. Next year, some of us will be on J.V. and some of us on varsity. It will be hard to get used to. I think we'll win state when we're back together our senior year. It's just a dream now, but I believe it will happen.

Bells rang throughout Guymon and the nation September 17, 1987 commemorating the 200th anniversary of the signing of the United States Constitution. At 3:00 p.m. bells were heard ringing at the junior high for 200 seconds as 200 red, white, and blue balloons were released into the sky. The week was full of activities as students decorated bulletin boards, studied the Preamble to the constitution, listened to area members of the Texas County Bar Association speak, went on a treasure hunt following clues about the constitution, and participated in a Benjamin Franklin look-a-like contest. The week's fun came to a close in the form of a program in the auditorium with choir, band and speech students performing. A quiz bowl during the assembly gave students a chance to display the knowledge they had gained all week; participants dressed in bi-centennial fashion. Reflections on the blessings of liberty will continue to inspire the students of the junior high — the future leaders of our nation.

Excuses, Excuses, Excuses

"I forgot." (Oooh! Yuck!) "My dog ate it." (You're getting better.) "It's in my sister's car, and she went back to college in Maine." (There you go!!) Excuses constitute a major part of our school lives. Desperately trying to shake the blame, stay out of trouble, and most importantly, keep your parents happy! They are the same excuses used for basically the same reason — you goofed up! How about trying something new? (Yes, really.) It takes a bit of effort to cook up something a little more believable, or something so "off-the-wall" that the teacher will believe there is no possible way you could have made it up. Remember: Saying it with a straight face is essential.

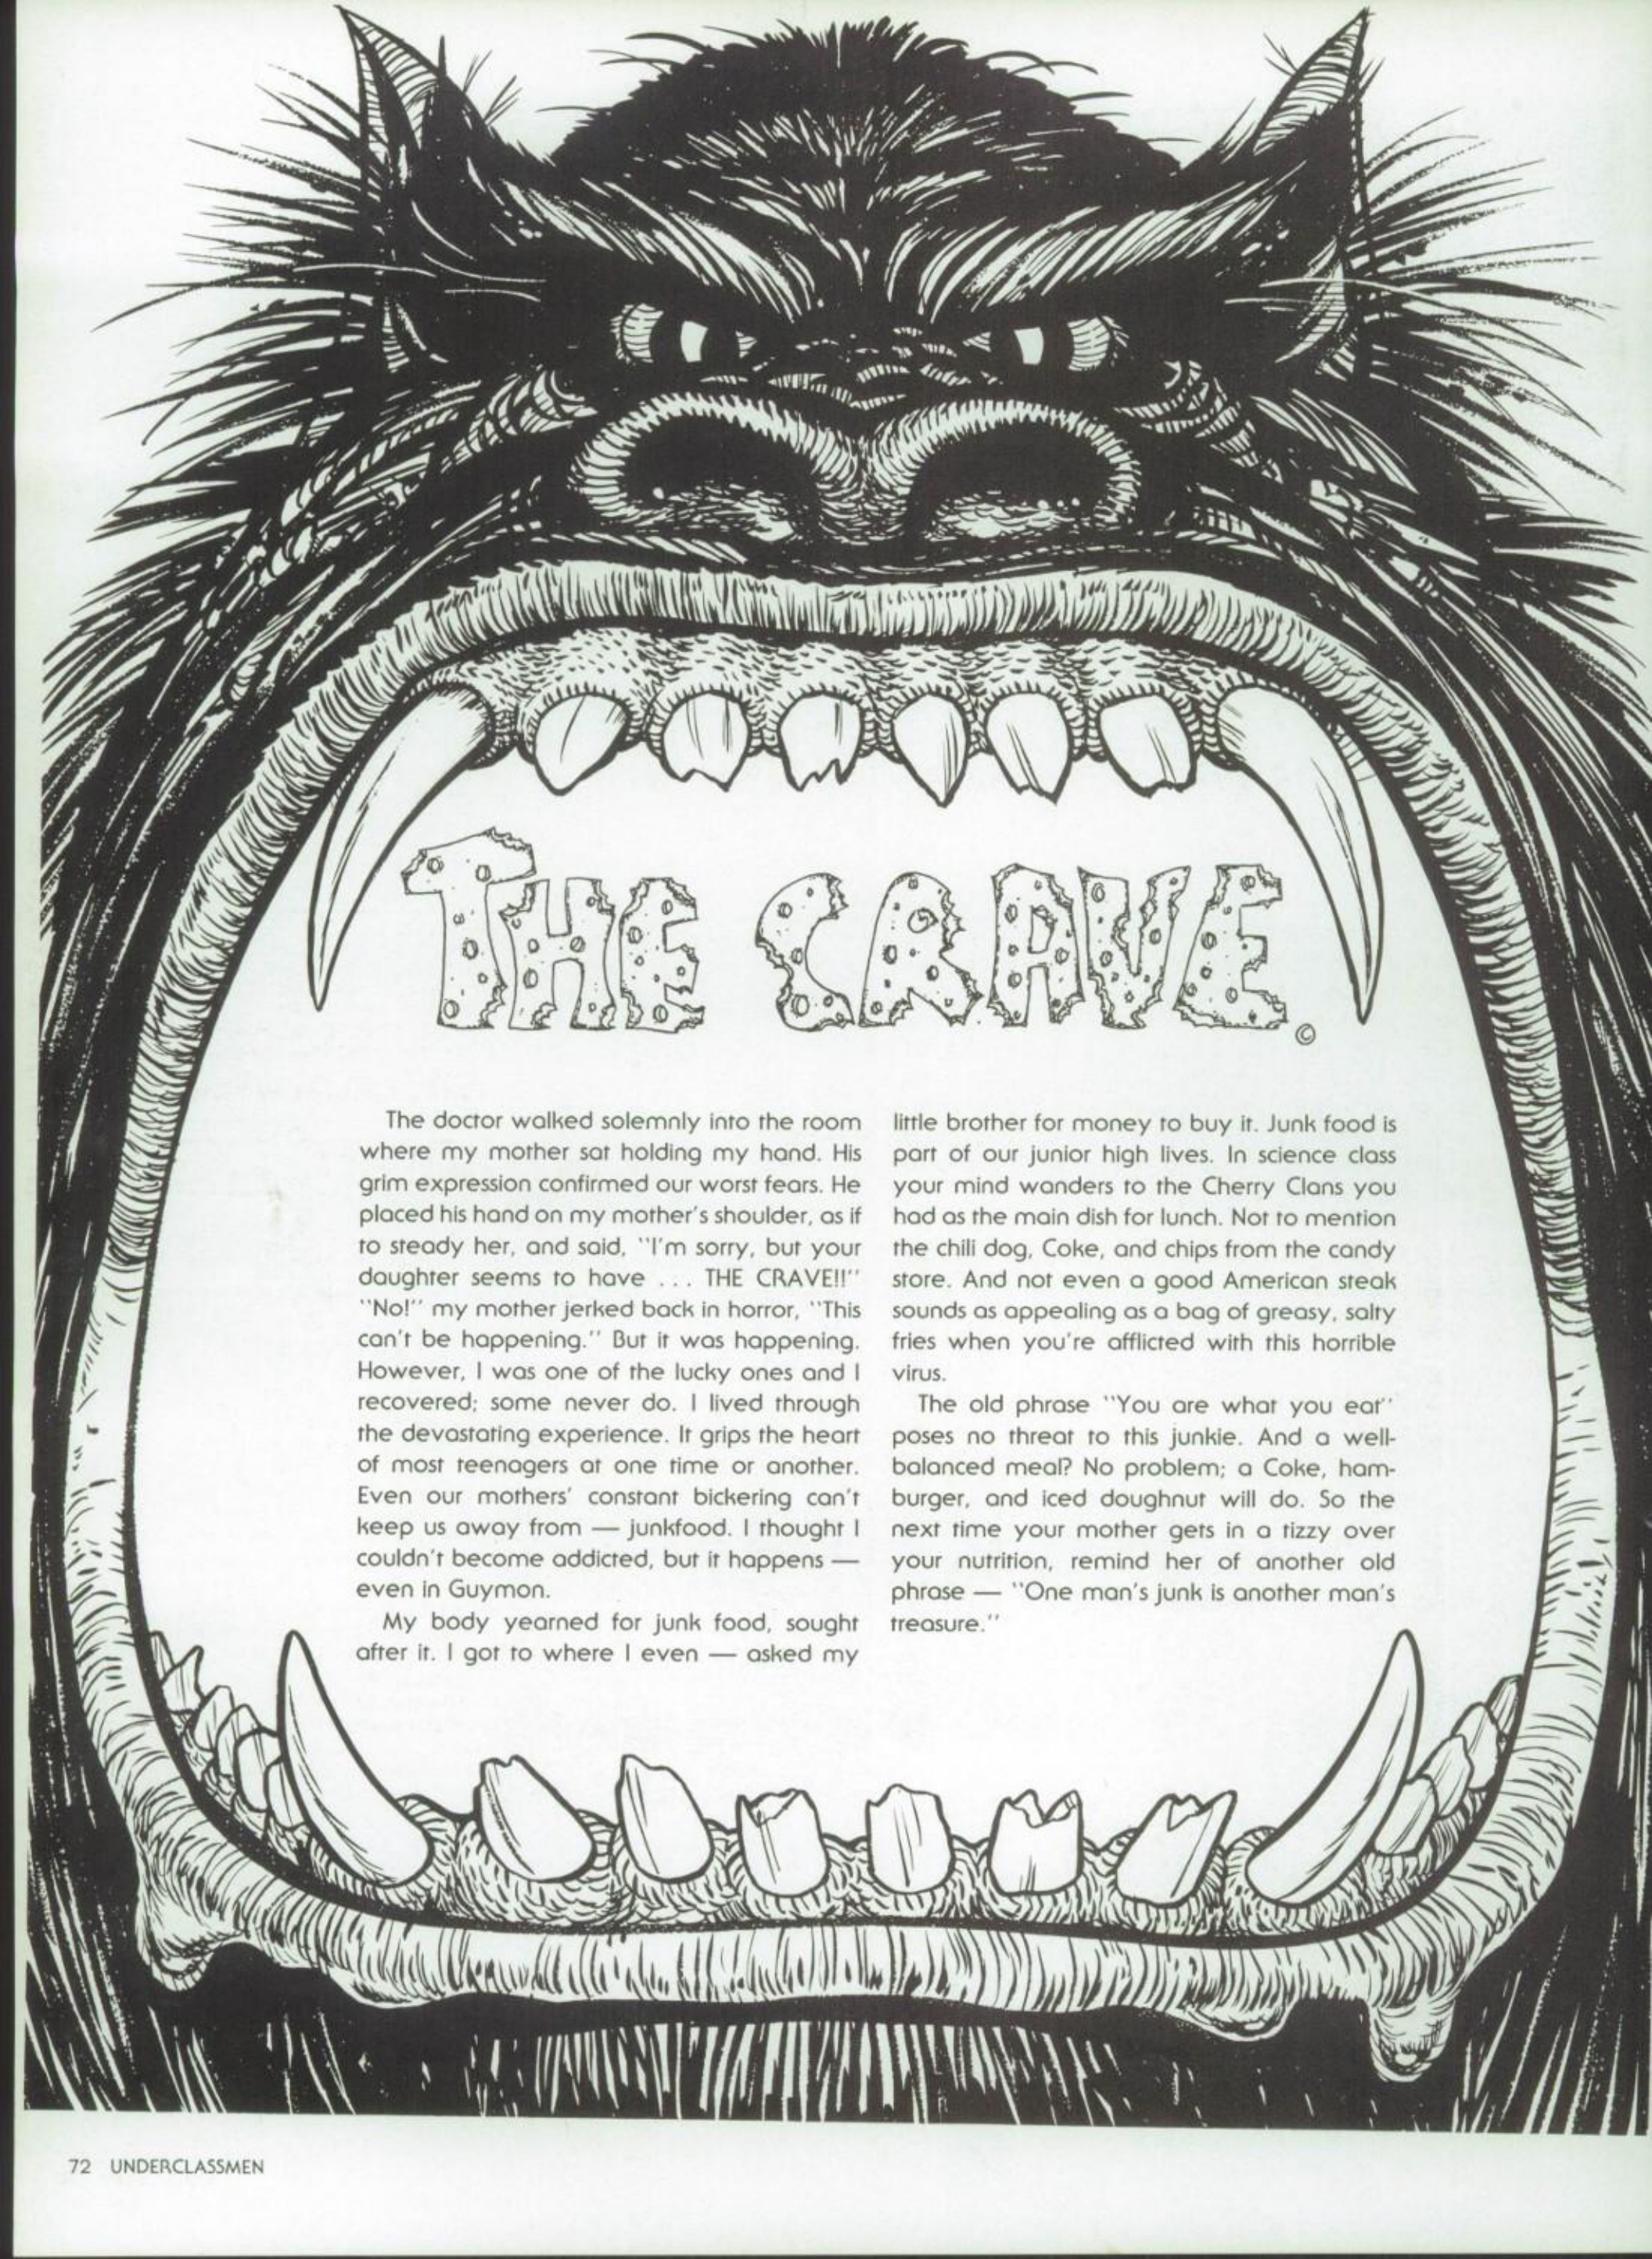

Now, how can you come up with such an excuse? For beginners, the best bet is to stick with an old excuse with a slightly new twist; such as, "I spilled my dinner (which was spaghetti) on my homework and then my dog ate it." Always add little details which are destined to throw any teacher off. "My homework (I really did finish it) is in (I worked so hard) my sister's car (it took me all night) and she's in Maine. I even ran after her when I realized what happened. I chased her at least two hours; but when the snow started, I couldn't run anymore." Repeated excuses can't be used, so you will have to remember what excuse you used this time so as not to give it again. I mean, the kitchen can only explode so many times.

Sound too complicated? It takes practice that's for sure, and a little natural talent. You won't always be able to get away with the "Russian that flushed my homework down the toilet" story. Goodness knows, that our teachers get tired of the same old excuses, so for their sake — let's think up some new ones.

Stephanie Livesay pleads for mercy as Mrs. Ward "lowers the boom."

THE CRAVE

The doctor walked solemnly into the room where my mother sat holding my hand. His grim expression confirmed our worst fears. He placed his hand on my mother's shoulder, as if to steady her, and said, "I'm sorry, but your daughter seems to have . . . THE CRAVE!!" "No!" my mother jerked back in horror, "This can't be happening." But it was happening. However, I was one of the lucky ones and I recovered; some never do. I lived through the devastating experience. It grips the heart of most teenagers at one time or another. Even our mothers' constant bickering can't keep us away from — junkfood. I thought I couldn't become addicted, but it happens — even in Guymon.

My body yearned for junk food, sought after it. I got to where I even — asked my little brother for money to buy it. Junk food is part of our junior high lives. In science class your mind wanders to the Cherry Clans you had as the main dish for lunch. Not to mention the chili dog, Coke, and chips from the candy store. And not even a good American steak sounds as appealing as a bag of greasy, salty fries when you're afflicted with this horrible virus.

The old phrase "You are what you eat" poses no threat to this junkie. And a well-balanced meal? No problem; a Coke, hamburger, and iced doughnut will do. So the next time your mother gets in a tizzy over your nutrition, remind her of another old phrase — "One man's junk is another man's treasure."

Accept No Substitute

What would you do if you couldn't talk on the phone? Well, first you might go through periods of dire withdrawals, but once the sound of the ring got out of your system, you would probably be OK. The telephone plays a very important role in the life of an eighth grader. For many, it is the most easily accessible means of communication with the outside world. On the average, eighth graders spend at least three hours a day on the phone. The phone provides vital information, such as: who's going with whom, and why so-and-so is mad at so-and-so, and of course, what you-know-who wore with you-know-what. Yes, the telephone is a great way to funnel your gossip to the rest of the world.

BRACES MAKE BEAUTIFUL FACES

To those of you who have straight teeth (naturally), you haven't lived 'til you've had braces!

As an ex-braces wearer myself, who is now destined to a life of retainers, sometimes I wonder if my $3,000 smile was worth the pain and torture.

I'm sure most of us just laughed in the dentist's face when he said, "absolutely no gum, taffy, popcorn, caramel apples, ice, lemons..." Somehow he always got me back by rightening my braces a little extra turn with an instrument that looked like something out of a horror flick. Then followed days of pain as I gummed on my hamburger.

Trust me, when the "Big Day" finally comes and your dentist literally rips them off, people don't notice your braces are gone; they just wonder what you've been up to because of the huge smile on your face. FREE — AT LAST!

Shandy Adelman manages a smile while he waits to be "free."

J AILED

No Way Out

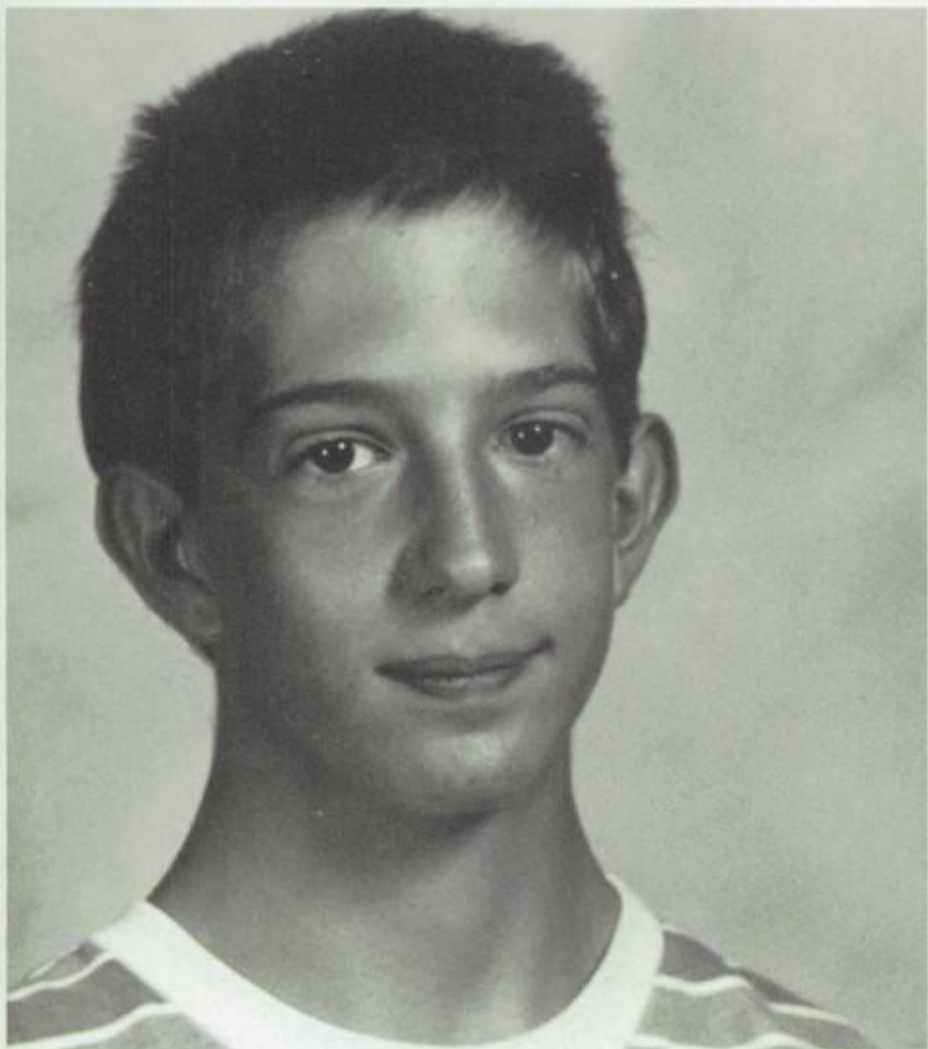

Grounded?! Not just when you think you may crack, parole is considered. If you promise never, ever to do it again you can go free — under strict observation. So keep on your toes, someone's watching, waiting to see if you will land BACK IN JAIL.

Confined, Kayla Hester catches up on her reading while waiting for her sentence to end.

Barred into her room for some unknown crime is Shelly Thomas.

Katy January sits on her front porch dreaming of the day she will become free once again.

A Brother and a Friend

Dedicated to: Shawn Goolsby, my brother
 A brother is a friend that can be friendly as long as I stay, to stand together and to love each other each day.
 We make ice cream with toppings and all the rest,
 but when it's time to go, you have to try your best.
 As long as we're alive and stay together,
 when we go to heaven we'll be friends forever.
 When I look in your eyes and they glow so bright all I can think of is your friendly life.

— Toby Brewer

Shawn Micheal Goolsby, a seventh grader at Guymon Junior High, left this place for a better one on January 23, 1988 after suffering from heart problems. We will miss his smiling face and optimistic attitude. He had a battle to fight and he pulled for his life until the end. He was a very special person who was and is dearly loved. May God bless his memory. We will never forget him.

TIGERS

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

COACH OF THE YEAR

Buddy Brock

Brian Costner	#70
Brent Wicker	#25
Tyler Kemp	#86
David Scott	#71
Craig Garrison	#22

The Tiger football team has made a name for itself. Helping the Tiger football team to a III-A State Championship are Craig Garrison, Tyler Kemp, David Scott, Brian Costner, and Brent Wicker who earned All-District honors along the way. All of these seniors were named All-District which is an honor given to outstanding players by district coaches. Another honor given to both Craig Garrison and Brian Costner is the III-A All-Star team. This honor is selected by a committee of all of Oklahoma coaches and includes all classes. Garrison was selected to this and was, along with Kemp and Costner, also All-

State Honorable Mention which is chosen the same as All-Region. Coach Buddy Brock was named Coach of the Year by district coaches and several area newspapers. These are not the only Tigers who have received honors, and those Tigers and coaches who have had honors given to them know that without all the other teammates and coaches they could not have received these accomplishments. So here's to all Tigers and all coaches — congratulations on a job well done.

WE'RE NUMBER ONE!

December 12, 1987. The Guymon Tigers fulfilled their goal. For the first time in school history, the Guymon Tigers became the Oklahoma Class 3A state football champions. This title was not only a goal, it was a promise. A promise to Tom. We did it for Tom.

Thomas Cory Watkins was killed in a car accident on June 21, 1986. The accident, the outcome of a drunk driver, affected everyone who knew Tom. Whether the sport was football, basketball, or track, Tom was a Guymon Tiger. He was a champion in everything he did, and he was the 12th man on the 1987 Tiger team that took the state championship.

"Tough. Orner. Mean." That was the team motto all year. Words that smiled with encouragement. Words with hope when all hope was gone. Words that took us to the state championship, this time for the win.

The Guymon Tigers worked many long and hard hours this season. We were a team with tremendous ability. But to win a state championship, it takes more than ability. It takes desire. We were a team with an unusual amount of desire. There was a reason we wanted to win. A special reason. So we gave it all we had, and then a little more. We never, never gave up. After the game Jeff Hall's words spoke for the entire team — especially the seniors:

"He was our 12th player tonight . . . On that last drive we said we've got to do it. We've got to win this game . . . for Tom . . . Every one of the offensive linemen who played tonight knew Tom. We all hung around with each other. We just played with him in us."

"We all respected him. We all listened to him. He was a leader. He was a winner. Everything he did . . . Oh, I hurt when he died . . . It hurts."

"We dedicated this to him. I feel him, man. I felt him in every all game. I swear, man. I'm positive I did."

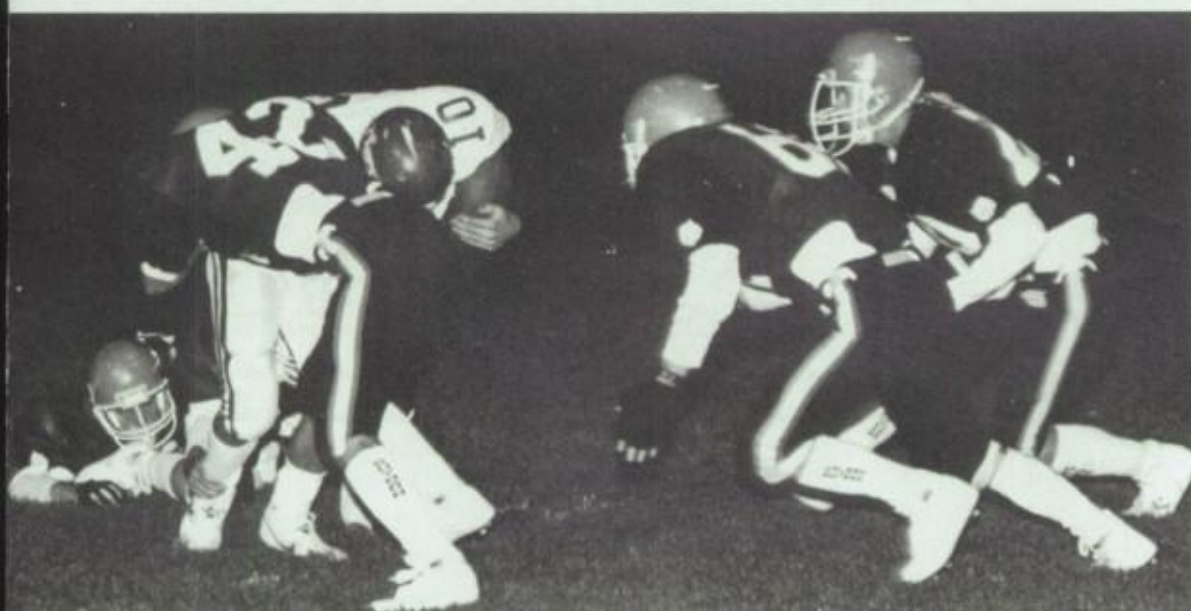

Thanks, Tom. Thanks for being a winner. Thanks for leading us to be winners.

After the "big win" the Guymon Tigers relax during a grueling photo session with the media.

Mr. White, the proud, new father of this golden child, was found caring for the school's new baby at the post-game party in Stillwater's Holidome.

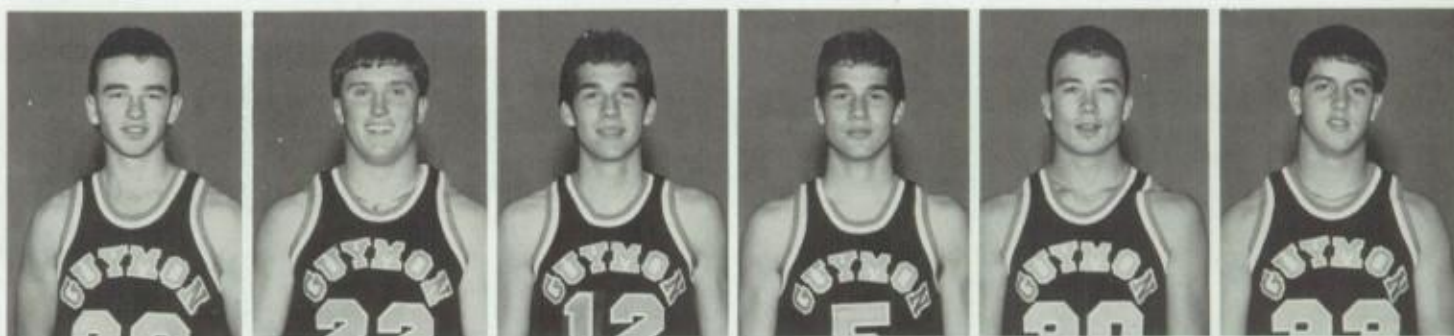

When the time finally ran out, Troy Collins and Rusty Boring let emotion overcome them.

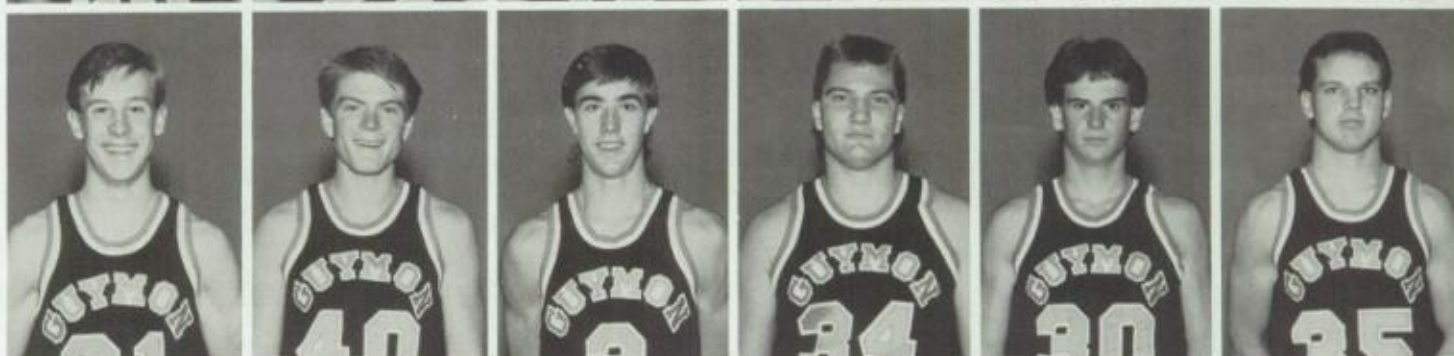

The Guymon Defense proves their motto, "Bad to the Bone" as they stop a Tuttle Tiger dead in his tracks.

NCA NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

ON A ROLL

"Drumroll please — And the winner of the 1987 Award of Excellence is the cheerleading squad from Guymon High School."

These words rang through the Panhandle State University gym on June 26, 1987. What exactly is the Award of Excellence? It is an honor deeply desired by every squad at a National Cheerleaders Association summer camp. The winner of this award is entitled to compete on the national level; this year nationals were held in Dallas, Texas, December 27-28, and the GHS cheerleaders were on their way.

This was the second year in a row for Guymon High School to attend nationals. They knew how much time and effort was involved on top of locker decorations, run-throughs, pom-pom routines, and the perfection of cheers associated with football and basketball season; but they were willing to pay the price.

And the work paid off — nationals were a great experience, and even more important, the GHS cheerleaders had a blast. "Hard Rock Cafe was the best part, but even more exciting than that was driving in Dallas with our sponsors, Becky Moore and Carolyn Brock — especially driving the wrong way down one way streets," admits junior cheerleader Angela Adelman.

Through rain, hail, sleet, and snow, football cheerleaders Michele Hart, Christy Brock, and Kim Mendenhall keep smiling.

Cheerleaders for the 1987 football season are Michele Hart, Christy Brock, Starla Bugner, Tricia Fuentes, Tiger mascot — Melissa Clark, Crystal Petty, and Kim Mendenhall. Give these girls a hand for helping the Guymon Tigers win their first state championship.

Practice makes perfect and the GHS cheerleaders practiced their jumps to perfection.

HAWAII OR BUST

Shelli Shaffer, a freshman at Guymon Junior High, was named All-American, an award given to the best cheerleader at an NCA camp. This honor entitled her to go to Honolulu, Hawaii to cheer at the Aloha Bowl. And, on December 25, 1987, that is exactly what she did. Some of you may have seen Shelli on national television. Shelli comments, "It was a blast — at the game I knew when the cameras were going to be on me, so I would wave as big as I could." Also up for the award from Guymon were Senior, Crystal Petty; Junior, Kelly Blackmore; and Freshman, Denae Mason. We would like to congratulate all of these girls and especially Shelli for an award well deserved.

Chad Bartling and Brian Cassels spend time after school decorating for the Christmas dance that was sponsored by the Student Council.

Wondering why Mrs. Quesenbury is in ALL these pictures? It is because she works so hard. Thanks!

Mrs. Quesenbury listens intently as Starla Bugner and Kristy Taylor present ideas for Student Council members to slave over.

The always-serious Kent Powell, president, finally breaks out of his shell.

Well above the rest, Student Council officers Kent Powell (president), Troy Collins (vice president), Jennifer Decker (secretary), and Starla Bugner (treasurer) are ready to begin a wonderful year.

One of the projects taken on by the Student Council was baking and delivering Halloween cookies. "Sweating over a hot oven" are sponsor Mrs. Quesenbury and Katie Mayer.

ORGANIZATION OF DEDICATION

Student Council has many important functions that concern the student body, the school, and the community. But, do you realize the responsibilities that the Student Council undertakes? The decisions and plans that they make affect you. The Student Council is the organization that plans dances, including finding sponsors, taking money, decorating, and hiring bands. The Student Council sponsors the Back-to-School, Christmas, Valentine's, and Homecoming dances. This hard-working organization is responsible for putting up the orange flags on game days and distributing the cards in the Christmas Card Box. The Student Council made Halloween cookies and delivered them this year. They also urged participation in the Canned Food Drive in order to make a contribution to the Guymon Community. These dedicated people organize the Spring Talent Assembly, hold all elections, and plan the Blood Drive. The Student Council is an important part of the functions at this school and has many devoted individuals. Each class has five class representatives, 2nd hour representatives, and club representatives. These people are led by four officers who give their time to the welfare of the school. So thank a Student Council member for their input in our school lives.

DEADLINE DREAD

Publications. An easy A, right? BAH HAH HAH! What's the big deal? Take a few pictures, slap 'em on a page, write a story, and it's done, right? BAH HAH HAH! How anyone ever got the idea that transforming 104 blank sheets of 18"x12" brown graph paper into a 208-page book is an easy job is a complete mystery. It requires almost super-human quantities of vision, English skills, and the patience of a saint.

Take, for instance, the pictures on this page. Did they just magically appear? No. Did a professional photographer appear, pose everyone, and hand-deliver perfect shots? No. Was a staff photographer practically forced at gunpoint to take, print and reprint each and every picture until he got it right? That's the ticker.

Of course, a story has to be written to fit the pictures, then typed and proofread by little elves, and last, but not least taken through the steps of an intricate formula that Pythagorus himself would have trouble with.

Okay, so you see, this job is not all butterflies and roses. There are the never-ending problems of people not wanting to be interviewed, people dying to be interviewed, and people upset because their picture was not used.

There were many obstacles in the path of this novice year-book staff, and there were those who had their doubts. But, as the old saying goes "Where there's a will, there's a way." And we most definitely had the will.

Dead with exhaustion from working hours on a deadline, Angela Adelman, Katie Mayer, and Christy Brock decide to take a break.

Working extra hard, Jessica Stump draws and talks on the phone at the same time.

FOR GOD

Fellowship of Christian Athletes — otherwise known as FCA. A time for fun — a time for fellowship — a time for God.

FCA. An organization that demands no special qualifications for membership. It began to teach kids how to bring faith into their particular sport. But everyone is welcome, not only athletes. Since anyone is able to go, FCA extended their teachings. FCA teaches us how to bring faith into the sport of life. It teaches us to be good sports. It doesn't matter if the game is trivial pursuit or football; it doesn't matter if we win or lose; it's how we play the game. And if our games are played for God, we will always be winners.

SOCIETY

What is the name of the bill that was revised which requires the federal government to balance its budget by fiscal 1993?

— Answer: Gramm-Rudman

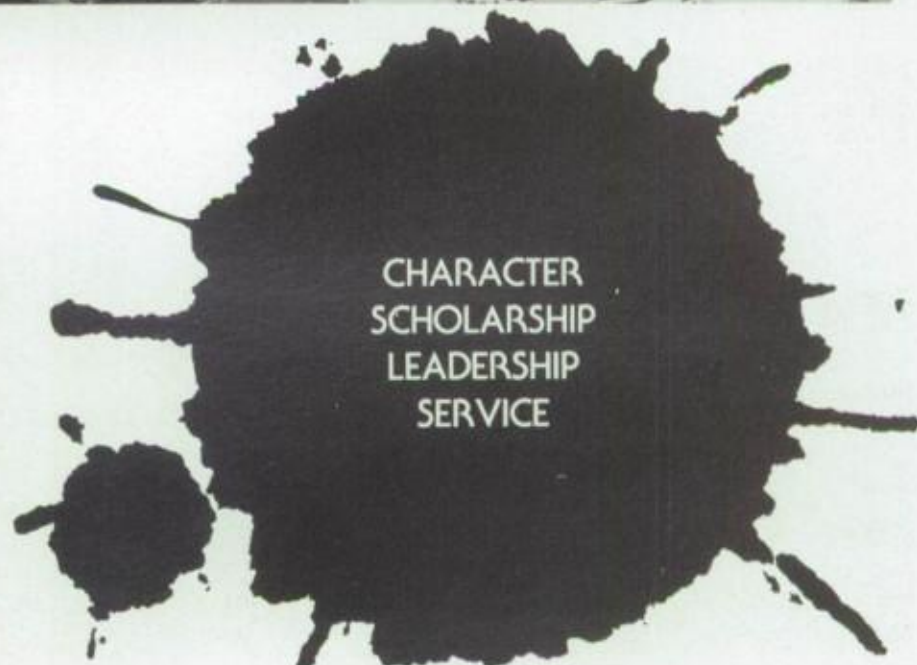

Did you have the answer for the above question? Students in the audience watching the third annual GH5 Invitational Honor Bowl enjoyed trying to come up with the correct answer and watching to see which team from the four area high schools would "buzz in" first with the correct response.

Overwhelmed with the competitive "game show" spirit during the first round, Guymon senior Dale McCurdy answered in true JEOPARDY style with "What is Roots" in response to the question "What is the name of the best-seller written by Alex Haley?" The points for Dale and the other members of Guymon A Team stacked up quickly and they were presented with the first-place trophy at the end of the last round. Guymon B Team came in second.

Categories of questions included business, science, American and world history, and current events.

All teams walked away inspired to continue their quest for knowledge and return next year for GH5 trivia mania.

SUPPORTING

"Most of us, swimming against tides of trouble the world knows nothing about, need only a bit of praise or encouragement — and we'll make the goal. Say 'Thank you!' whenever you think of it. Say 'Nice job!' to that workman who put extra effort into his task. Say 'Atta boy!' to the fellow who is struggling through in the face of odds. You'll get a whale of a lot of joy of life that way. And people will love you."

— Jerome P. Fleishman

COMMUNITY & STUDENT LIFE

GET READY

Homecoming. A time for fairy tales to come true. The festivities began on Tuesday. Five beautiful queens and their handsome escorts were announced, and the student body traveled back to another decade. "1960" was the theme for the day; everyone showed up in their bellbottoms and other hippie accessories. Wednesday was Teddy-Bear/Baby Day; everyone went through their toy chests and dug out their faithful teddy bears and came to school dressed as a child. Thursday, otherwise known as Superhero Day, was probably the most entertaining day of the week. The heroes of the day ranged from Pee Wee Herman to Superwoman herself. Tiger Day was Friday, and even a stranger would have been able to figure that one out. In support of the Tigers' game against Anadarko, everyone dressed in orange and black to the extreme. The pep rally played a big role during the day, and many winners walked out of the auditorium at 3:00. Stephanie Vandervort, Melissa Clark, and Tera Moore were named as the Most Spirited Senior, Junior, and Sophomore, respectively. Starla Bugner and Terry Bookout were named Baby Face winners, the cutest babies in the Class of 1988. Mrs. Hinchey's second hour won the door decorating contest; the Juniors won the hall decorating contest, and the seniors ran away with the infamous spirit stick. The football queen, Crystal Petty, was named homecoming queen; then the queen and her court were escorted outside to where their carriages awaited them. The cheerleaders, queens, football players, and student body paraded downtown where the pep rally continued. The spirit for the game was still sky high as the Guymon Tigers rolled over the Anadarko Warriors 29 to 6.

Pulling out to pass, the HERD pickup drives into the front of the line of the homecoming parade.

Working hard and steadily, Mrs. Whiteley and Jamie Bishop decorate the homecoming throne for Friday night's game.

Michele Blakley, Claudia Coppen, and Tori Jenkins gather around their prize-winning door that they helped create for the door decorating contest during homecoming week.

Rusty Boring signals the beginning of the Bonfire Pep Rally by lighting the fire.

Taking the field, the Guymon Tigers capture another victory over Anadarko.

Being attacked by black little circles, Michele Blakley decorates sophomore lockers.

Linda Padilla and Cassie Ramirez display the quilt made by FHA for homecoming.

As A Man Grows Older

He values the voice of experience more and the voice of prophecy less.

He finds more of life's wealth in the common pleasures — home, health, children.

He thinks more about worth of men and less about their wealth.

He begins to appreciate his own father a little more.

He boasts less and boosts more.

He hurries less, and usually makes more progress.

He esteems the friendship of God a little higher.

For GOD loved the world so much that He gave His only Son so that anyone who believes in Him shall not perish but receive eternal Life. GOD did not send JESUS into the world to condemn us, but to save us.-(Jn.3:16-17) Unless you believe that I (JESUS) am the Son of GOD, you will die in your sins.-(Jn.8:24) But now GOD has shown us a different way to Heaven - not by "being good enough" and trying to keep His laws, but by a new way. Now GOD says He will accept and acquit - declare us "not guilty" - if we trust JESUS Christ to take away our sins. And we ALL can be saved in this same way, by coming to Christ, no matter who we are or what we have been like. Yes, all have sinned; all fall short of GOD's glorious ideal; yet now GOD declares us "not guilty" of offending Him if we trust in JESUS Christ, Who in His kindness freely takes away our sins.-(Rom.3:21-24)

DUOS

Robert and Tim Gibson share in the joys of playing basketball and drinking a Coke.

Paternal twins — Theron and Lisa Landes, Brian and Jana Scott, Kylar and Kayla Hester — are special, too.

Twins. At some time in our lives, all of us have wished for one. Someone to go out on that blind date for us. Someone to go take that impossible chemistry test. Someone to talk to that would understand exactly the way we feel. Some people are blessed with a carbon copy at birth. Others have to struggle through life — doing things on their own.

Tim and Robert Gibson expound on the bliss of twinship, "We are not the same person, we just look alike. Twins run in our family. Our dad is a twin, our aunts are twins, and somewhere down the line, one of our grandparents were twins. We are best friends. We are involved in the same things. We are going to go to OU together. We will probably never leave each other — just like our dad and his brother."

Double trouble Brian and Blaine Warren think being a twin is twice as fun.

LIFESTYLES

Money. Money. Money. Money. Money.

Those who have it, usually work for it. Those who have it and don't work for it — are burns. Whether it's for things we want or things we need, we would eventually die without money. (After all, you can only eat so many wild berries.)

The desire for money is probably as universal as the desire to read minds. Once you've got a little, you're going to want more — it's a never-ending process.

All of us need money. No doubt about it; it's a material world. According to an EL TIGRE '88 survey of 354 GHS students, most of those said they eat out at least twice a week and spend their money on gifts, entertainment, cosmetics and haircuts (in that order). Parents provide part of the money for those expenditures in the form of an average weekly allowance of $5 to $10 for 44% of those surveyed.

Not all of us are so fortunate. Thirty-nine percent of the student body is engaged in part-time employment, earning an average of $40 a week. Whether they're employed by necessity or choice, students who work part-time gain valuable skills and experience. Managing daily responsibilities in the form of family, friends, school and a job can give a sixteen-year old an insight into the pressures of being an adult and juggling similar responsibilities; and while he may not plan to sack groceries for a living as an adult, he will gain some knowledge about whether he would like to be self-employed or part of another firm at all levels of management.

Practical application of economics starts early for GHS students, also, as 21% have their own checking account and 57% have their own savings account saving an average of $5 a week. But let's take a moment to stop and smell the roses; what-ever happened to "life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness?"

Let's get our priorities straight. Of course there are some things we'll always need money for, but don't forget to leave plenty of time for homework, attending school activities, getting the sleep you need, and enjoying your high school years. We'll have plenty of years seeking employment in the job market.

As jobless high school students, some sink into the depths of poverty, senior, Austin Stewart, resorts to begging.

Senior, Dominic Ramirez, can be found on the job at D&J, willing to help you with an entire line of Jockey, apparel for men.

OF THE RICH

United employee and senior, Faith Elliot, loves her job, especially when it comes to pushing all of the grocery carts.

Crystal Witten, a senior at GHS by day, employed by United at night, makes sure this customer really wanted Diet Coke.

Junior, Ashley Adams, takes a giant step out into the business world as she is a devoted secretary for attorney, Larry Field.

AND THE NOT-SO-RICH!

WHAT WILL WE DO WITHOUT YOU? CLIFF RAMSEY

Cliff Ramsey has worked as a janitor in the Guymon School system for twenty years. When asked the hardest job about being a janitor, Cliff said, "waxing the floor." He plans to retire this year. After his last day May 16, 1988, Cliff plans to take care of his wife and to maybe run a convenience store. Even though he claims he'll still be working, if one is looking for Cliff, he might check the nearest fishing areas.

Getting accustomed to a new selection of menus at the high school are cooks Betty Holder, Joy Gooch, Joyce Johnson, Shirley Lee, Betty Stewart, Vivian Brooks, Brenda Banks.

Marine Lt. Col. Oliver L. North, was a key official in the plan to finance anti-government rebels in Nicaragua with money from arms sales to Iran. In testimony before the Iran-Contra hearings in Washington, North became somewhat of a celebrity.

An earthquake that measured 6.1 on the Richter scale hit Southern California in October. It was not a catastrophic quake, but the damage was extensive.

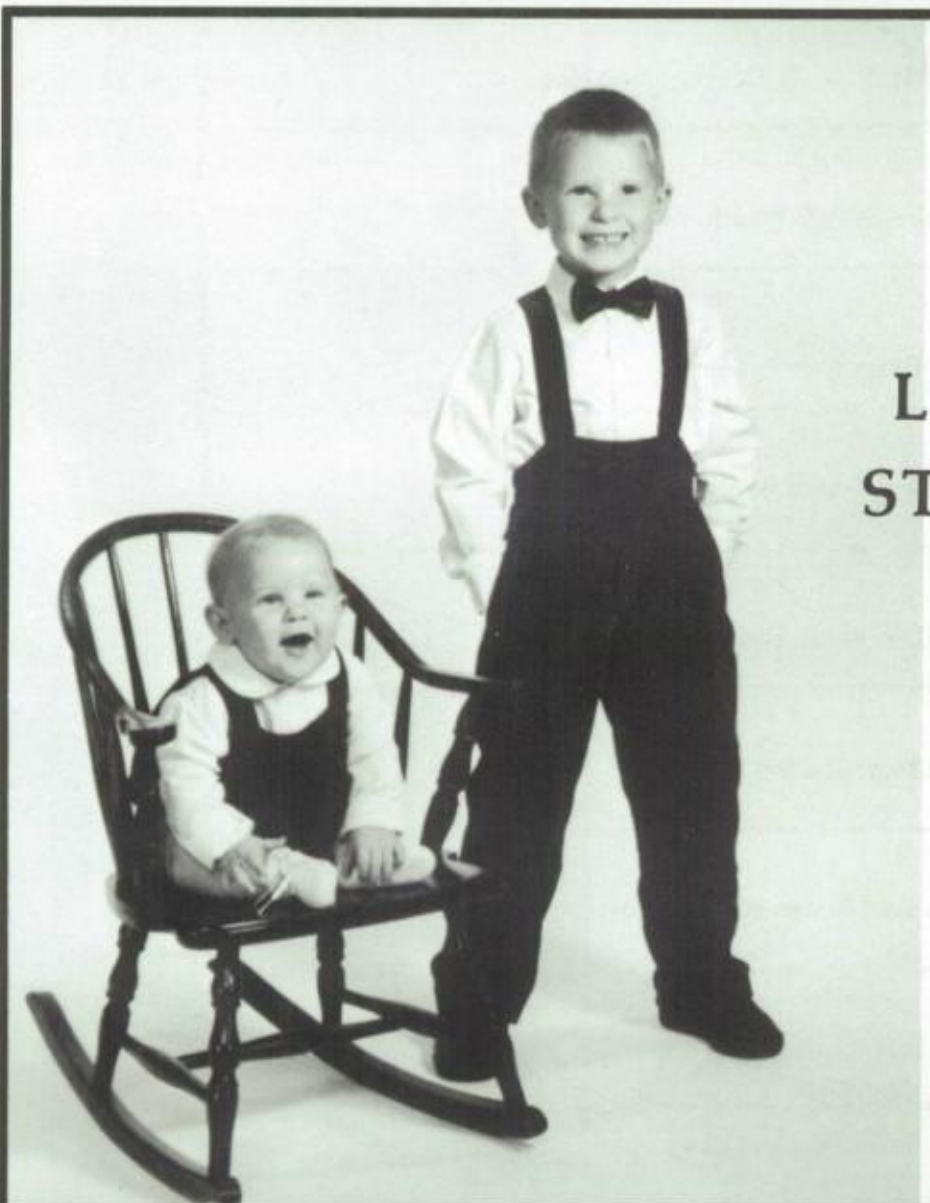

President Regan talks with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev during arrival ceremonies at the White House. The two superpower leaders held a three-day summit meeting in December and signed a nuclear arms control agreement.

Two of the top entertainers of the year were Madonna and Whitney Houston.

A LOOK INTO Forever

The world is round, and the place which may seem like the end may also be only the beginning.

— Ivy Baker Priest

CLOSING

What will happen in the world of fashion?

In what ways will transportation differ?

"The skirts will stay shorter for a while . . . the pants — tighter. Knits will be big . . . bold colors — in."

— Pamela Terrozas

"We're going to move away from gasoline to synthetic produced fuels. The Orient Express will be a reality by the year 2000."

— Dale McCurdy

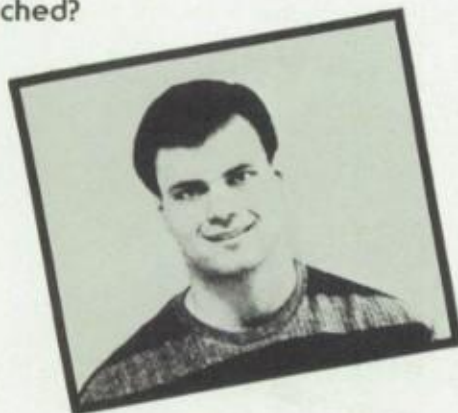

What changes will come to education in the future?

"With all of the drug and alcohol problems that we have, I think, that the schools will become more strict with their students than they have been in the past."
— Julie Landreth

What types of medical advances will be reached?

"New advances in technology will make most types of surgery obsolete. Present day cancer treatments will become obsolete, for new drugs and treatments will be created to destroy the cancer. A cure and vaccine for AIDS will be found."
— David Scott

Will the problems that teens face today be the same?

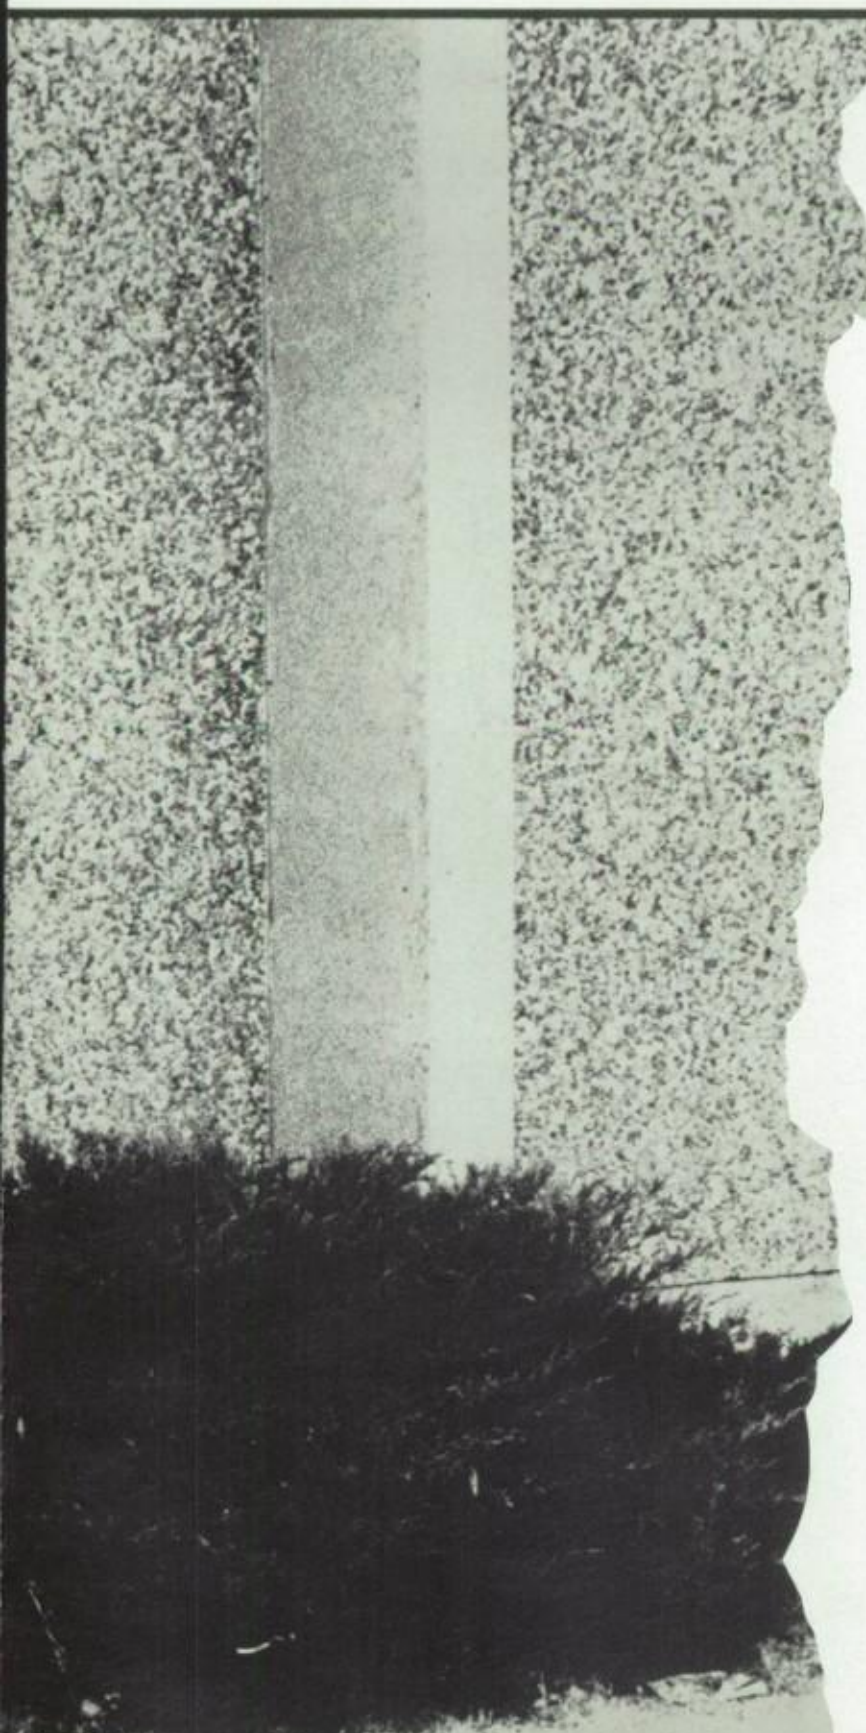

"More problems because it's just progressively getting worse. The elementary and Jr. High kids are starting the problems young. The problem of 'sex' should hopefully get better because everyone will be scared of getting AIDS."
— Denise Watson

FEELINGS

OF Forever

1987-88. I think we would all have to agree it's been OUTRAGEOUS. At Guymon we've been raised with a standard of excellence. From the time we entered school, we have been taught to strive for the best and never give up — NEVER. That is why we have become what we are. That is why we have excelled in every aspect of the school year. Through our various activities, each of us have been in touch with excellence in some way or another. Each of us have our own areas of excellence. Areas that have changed our lives forever. Right now, there are feelings and emotions running through our heads that will never change. We will never forget how it feels to win a state championship. We will never forget how it feels to make an "A" on that report card. But, most of all, we'll never forget how it feels to be a Guymon Tiger. That is a feeling of FOREVER.

Seniors, Brian Cassels and Tricia Fuentes look through binoculars down the road to FOREVER.
